OIG received allegations related to improper actions by an NSF employee. Among the improper actions were: abuse of Contracting Officer's Representative authority, improper hiring practices, and abuse of telework privileges. The complaint listed witnesses that the complainant believed would corroborate the allegations. We interviewed the witnesses and they not only did not support the claims in the complaint, they stated the Subject was a responsible employee with high standards and very good job performance. We therefore determined that the allegations were not substantiated.

This case is closed with no further action taken.
